

*Imagine life without it.
Kind of a bargain, when you think about it.*

Avista customers pay an average of $2.80 a day for electricity. That's less than 12¢ an hour to watch TV, listen to music, play video games, charge your phone, do laundry, see in the dark, or keep food fresh. Natural gas is even less expensive at 8¢ an hour.

When you compare those costs with other monthly expenses, it's a pretty good deal – especially considering all that energy makes possible in our daily lives. And even as our costs continue to rise, we'll work hard to keep those rates not only among the most competitive in the Pacific Northwest, but also in the entire country.

Questions about Avista's rates?
Visit myavista.com to learn more.

